YEAR BOOK STAFF

The yearbook staff was under the supervision of two very capable teachers, Miss Pfoutz and Mr. Hough.

We, the Seniors, met three periods a week in order to assemble this book. It took much time, thinking, and patience to successfully prepare and edit such a record, but we enjoyed it.

The hardest task of all was to assign a certain number of pages for sports, activities, and classes, and then to decide what was to be included in each of these sections. Then too, we couldn't forget to include the faculty and the school board!

We spent many hours trimming pictures, arranging them in artistic fashion, and mounting them on paper.

A most unforgettable day was when the seniors came to school all dressed up to have their pictures taken. They were so changed that it took a second look to recognize many of them.

The grand climax to all our work came when the books arrived from the printers and were distributed.

We sincerely hope that you enjoy reading this yearbook as much as we have enjoyed presenting it to you.

F. F. A.

The Future Farmers of America have had a very interesting and informative year. The main event for many of the boys was the trip to the Farm Show in Harrisburg. This was preceded by several skating parties and an unforgettable initiation of thirteen new members.

Two members of the East Huntingdon Chapter have received awards for their project work in vocational agriculture. Lawrence Sidlovsky, a Junior, was the winner of a bronze medal for having his beef project place twelfth in the state in the annual project contest held at the Pennsylvania State College. Charles Moore, a Sophomore, was selected as the boy with the most outstanding dairy project in the local Chapter and received a medal from the F. F. A. Foundation in recognition of his achievement.

The president, Bill Hodgkiss, vice president, Paul Summy, secretary, Henry Craig, treasurer, Edwin Dillinger, reporter, James Reagan, and sentinel, John Hobson, under the direction of Mr. Griffith, have all done their part to make this a successful year for the F. F. A.

F. H. A.

The Future Homemakers of America is a club well established by the girls from the Sophomore, Junior, and Senior Home Economics classes. The Club's aim is to become better homemakers in the future.

During the year the club had various business meetings. At the beginning of the year a joyous initiation for the sophomore girls was held in the gym. The regional conference was held at North Huntingdon High School, and a number of the girls from the club attended. On January fourteenth a few of the members went to the Farm Show where they had a wonderful time. In order to make money for the club the girls made Christmas cookies and sold greeting cards.

The officers of the club were: president, Gladys Nagy, vice president, Shirley Suter, secretary, Beatrice Oakes, treasurer, Gwen Hart, and historian, Martha Dye.

The East Huntingdon band, under the very capable direction of Mr. James Hammaker, made its first appearance of the 1951 season on the evening of the South Huntingdon football game. This was the beginning of a fine season which really began two weeks before school started.

On the field our head majorette, Shirley Love, showed excellent initiative in leading the band through its various formations. Off the field our student director, Dick Gratzinger, assisted Mr. Hammaker in directing the band.

This season the East Huntingdon band was represented at such events as the Halloween parades, Pennsylvania week parade, County Band Festival, and Memorial Day parade in addition to the class plays, pep rallies, Spring Circus, and the Graduation exercises.

In the latter part of the year a band banquet was held in commemoration of a job well done. Here the Senior members of the band received their coveted "E" letters.

The students of East Huntingdon can justly be proud of the band that represented them and their school this year.

MIXED CHORUS

The mixed chorus has taken a leading part in our school activities. The main event this year was the operetta. Under the able direction of Mrs. Hyatt, the combined group of mixed chorus and glee club gave a wonderful performance of "The Forest Prince." This was the story of the Cossacks in a struggle against their enemy, Tsar Mikhail of Russia. All the music, which formed a colorful background, was from Tschaikowski.

This chorus had great success with last year's operetta, too. A group of Americans, a couple of aviators, their boss from a movie company, an ambassador, and an English gentleman, had an exciting adventure with the Caliph, in "The Belle of Bagdad."

Beside this, they sang for special assemblies and between the acts of the class plays.

So, for a job well done, we say thanks, and give our best wishes for the future.

TRI-HI-Y

This year the Tri-Hi-Y was divided into two groups. The juniors and seniors formed the Senior Tri-Hi-Y with Mrs. Farnataro as sponsor. The Junior Tri-Hi-Y consisted of all sophomores with Mrs. Sorber as sponsor.

At the beginning of the 1951-52 term, the Senior group elected their officers. These were: president, Shirley Love, vice president, Patty Bosanick, secretary, Rose Batchko, and treasurer, Catherine Quartz.

The sophomores elected the following officers: president, Barbara Miedel, vice president, Patty Muha, secretary, Joanne Shaffer, treasurer, Ruth Ann Fox, and historian, Sally Simmons.

The activities for the year included packing boxes for the needy and sponsoring chapel programs for Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Easter.

Leading Lady . . .

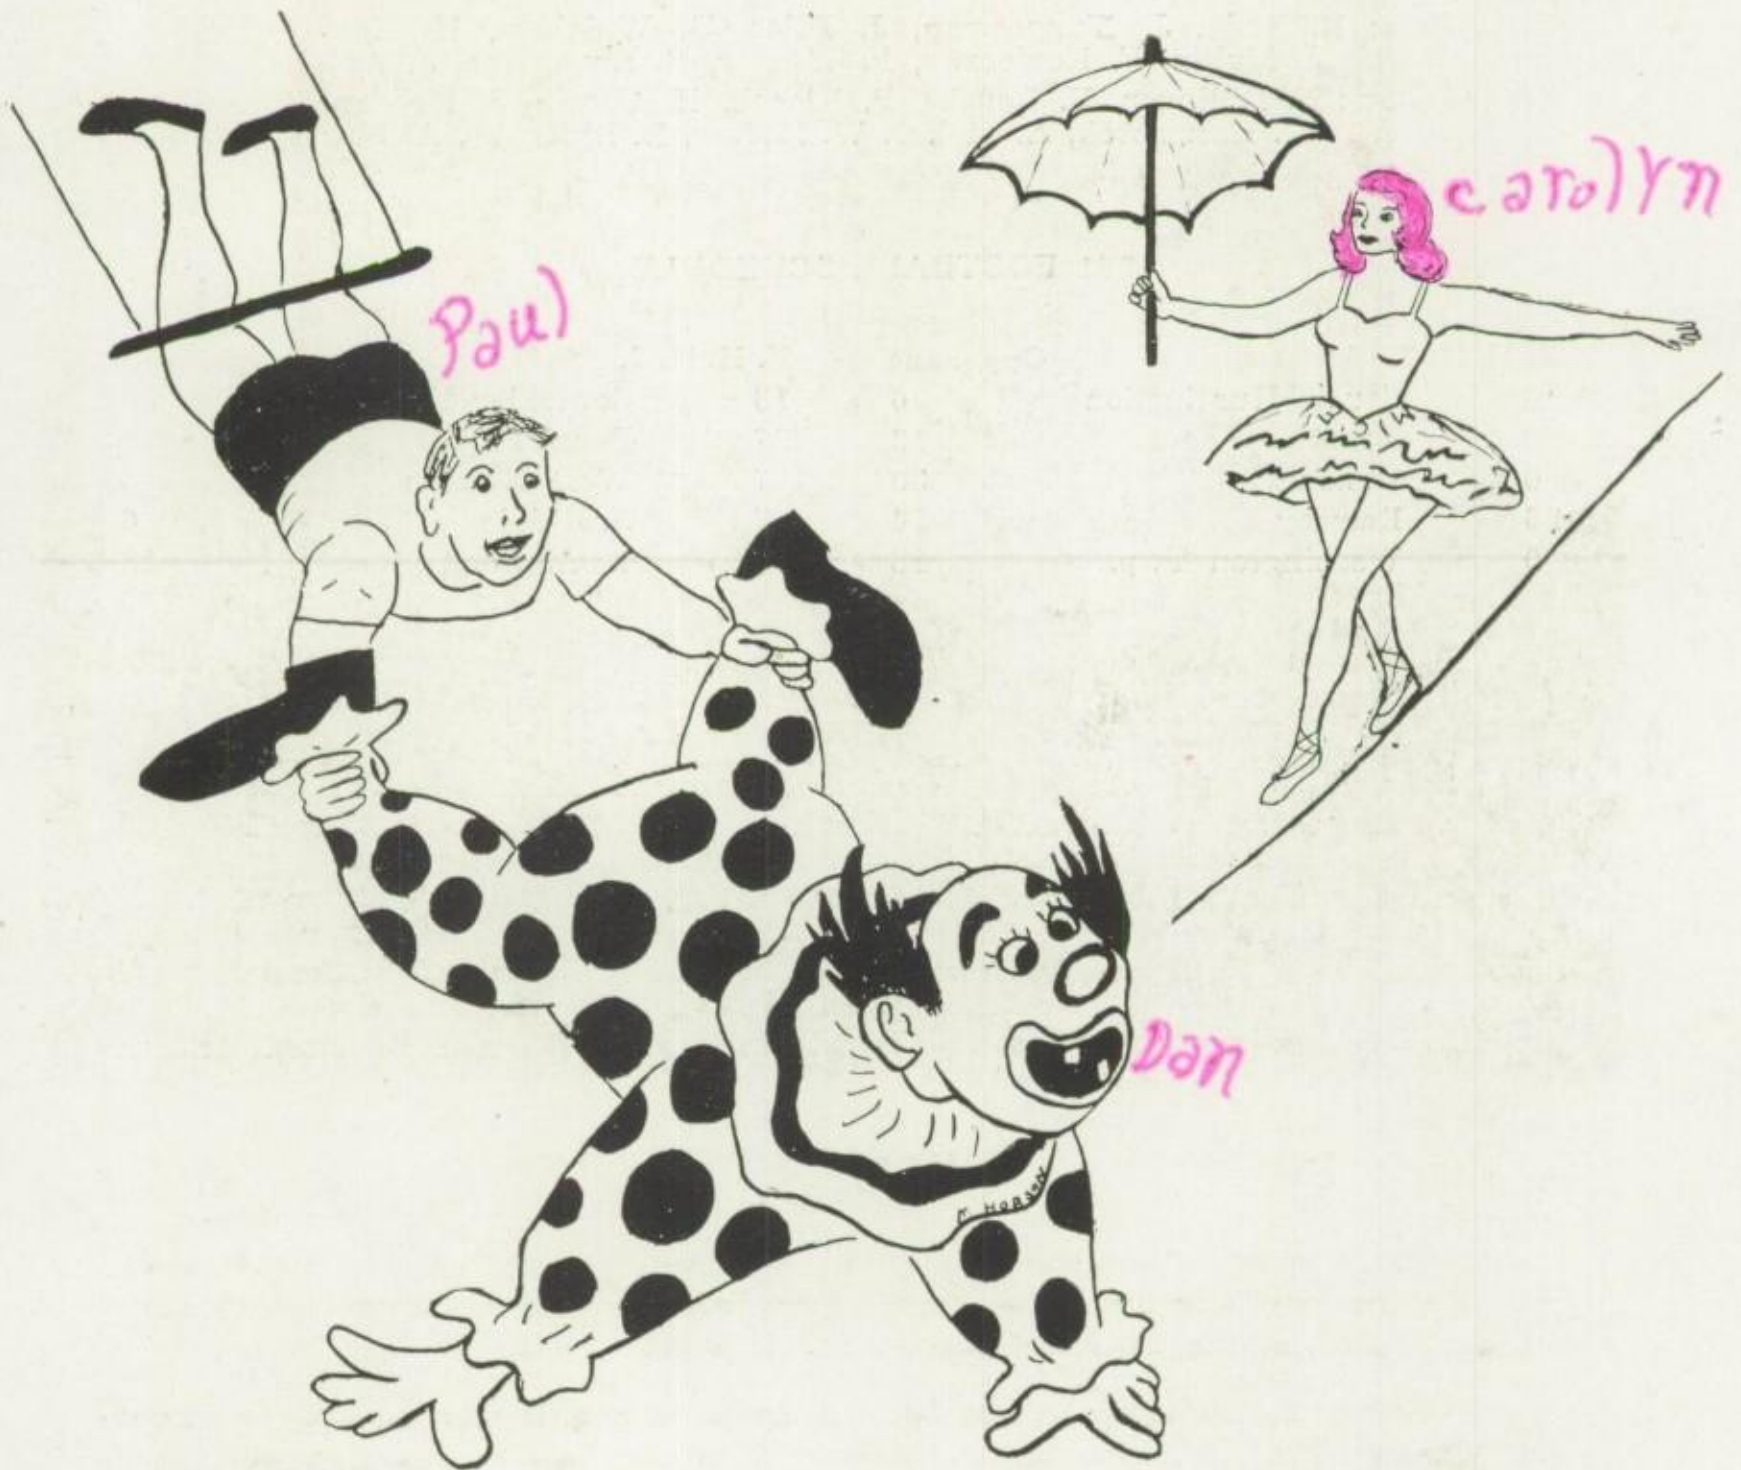

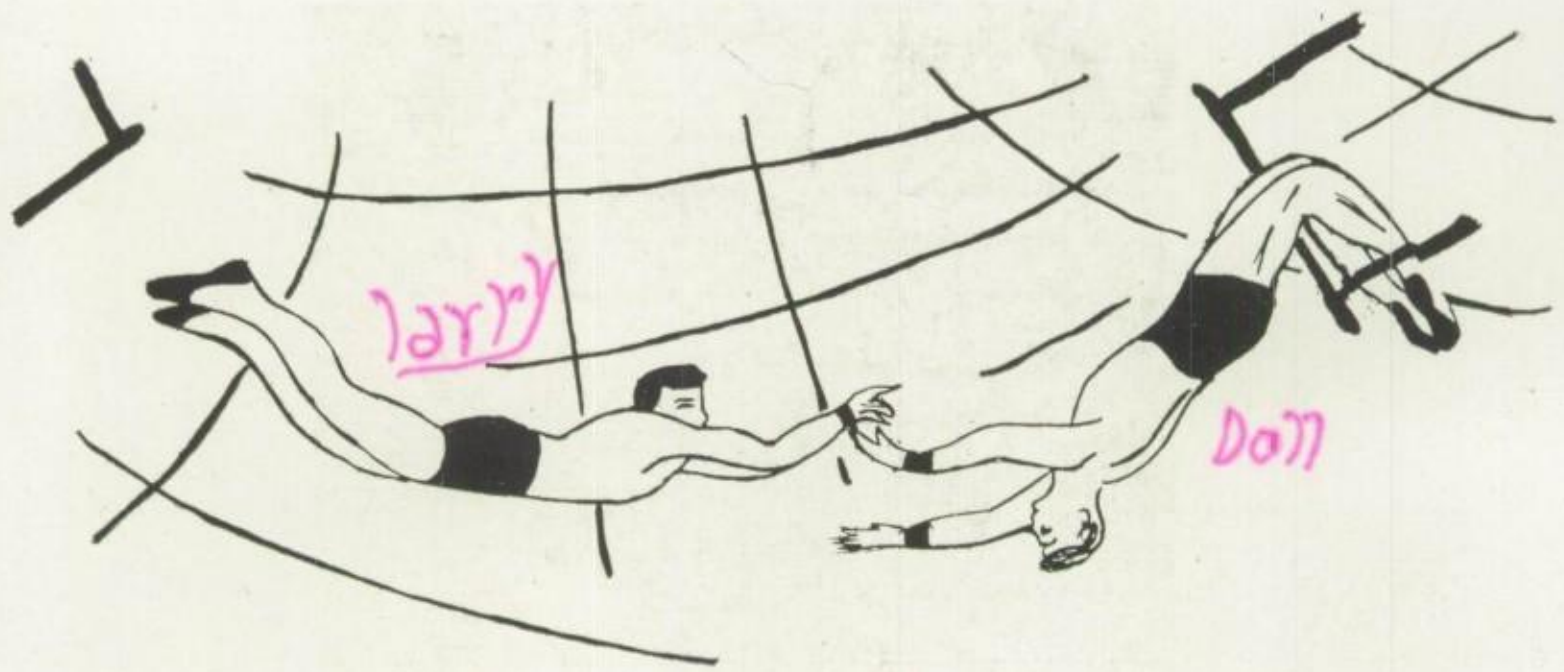

Snow Queen

The evening of December 7, 1951, was the highlight of our senior year. On that date the beautiful Snow Queen Coronation took place in the school auditorium which was decorated in keeping with the winter season.

Before the crowning ceremonies, a program of singing and dancing serenaded our Queen. The attractive Queen, Sondra Whigham, was crowned by the Class President, Tom Wolfe. Her attendants, Pat Bosanick, Shirley Suter, Arlene Barber, and Kathryn Hodgkiss, were attired in pastel evening gowns.

Following the coronation, the Snow Queen Ball was held in the gymnasium. There the decorations followed the same theme as those in the auditorium. Music was furnished by the "Jesters." A gay and memorable evening was enjoyed by all.

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE 1951 FOOTBALL SEASON

The game with Hurst was played on the evening of September 14 at the Hurricane stadium. Holding Hurst scoreless for the first three quarters the valiant Bulldogs finally succumbed to a strong Hurst team only because of their superior reserve strength. The final score was 13-0.

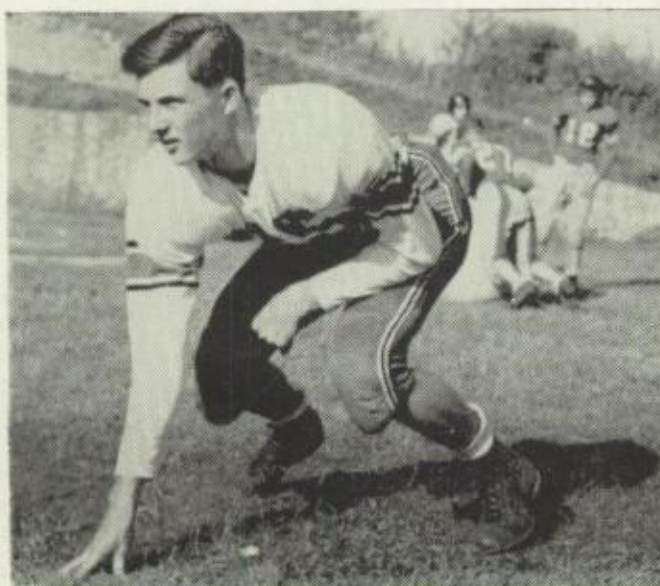

On September 27, the Bulldogs were prepared to meet Ramsay, one of E. H. H. S.'s traditional rivals. The Bulldogs fought hard but lost to a Class A Bobcat team by a score of 56-26. Although the Red and Black fought back valiantly, it was a case of too little, too late.

The game between Sewickley and East Huntingdon was played at the Ramsay field on the crisp autumn evening of October 11. Although Sewickley proved stiff competition they were subdued by an inspired Bulldog eleven. The E. H. H. S. touchdowns were made by Miller and Cocain. The final score was 13-6 in favor of East Huntingdon.

The game with Scottdale, our rival team, was played on the evening of November first on Scottdale's rain-soaked field. During the first quarter of the game John Hobson blocked a Scottdale punt and the loose ball was picked up by Dale Whigham who ran 40 yards for the T. D. Bill Kaczmarek kicked the extra point. The Scottdale team had their T. D. when Stoner took an East Huntingdon punt and ran 80 yards. They missed their extra point and the final score was 7-6 East Huntingdon.

On the evening of October 7 the Bulldogs entertained the West Newton Hornets at the Ramsay stadium. The Hornets proved to be one of the most evenly matched opponents that the Bulldogs encountered during the season.

A nip and tuck battle went on for almost four full quarters. In the final seconds of the game however, Albert Miller, Sophomore fullback, circled left end for the only score in the game and Bill Kaczmarek added the extra point thus giving the Bulldogs a 7-0 victory.

Alvin Stoker—End . . . varsity end for three years . . . all around player . . . proved himself in the Scottdale game.

Varsity Club

The Varsity Club is a distinguished group of Bulldogs representing those who have earned a letter in varsity sports on the gridiron or basketball court.

The club is responsible for the annual Varsity Dance which is becoming a traditional affair. One of the biggest aims of the group is to raise funds for the benefit of the Senior lettermen.

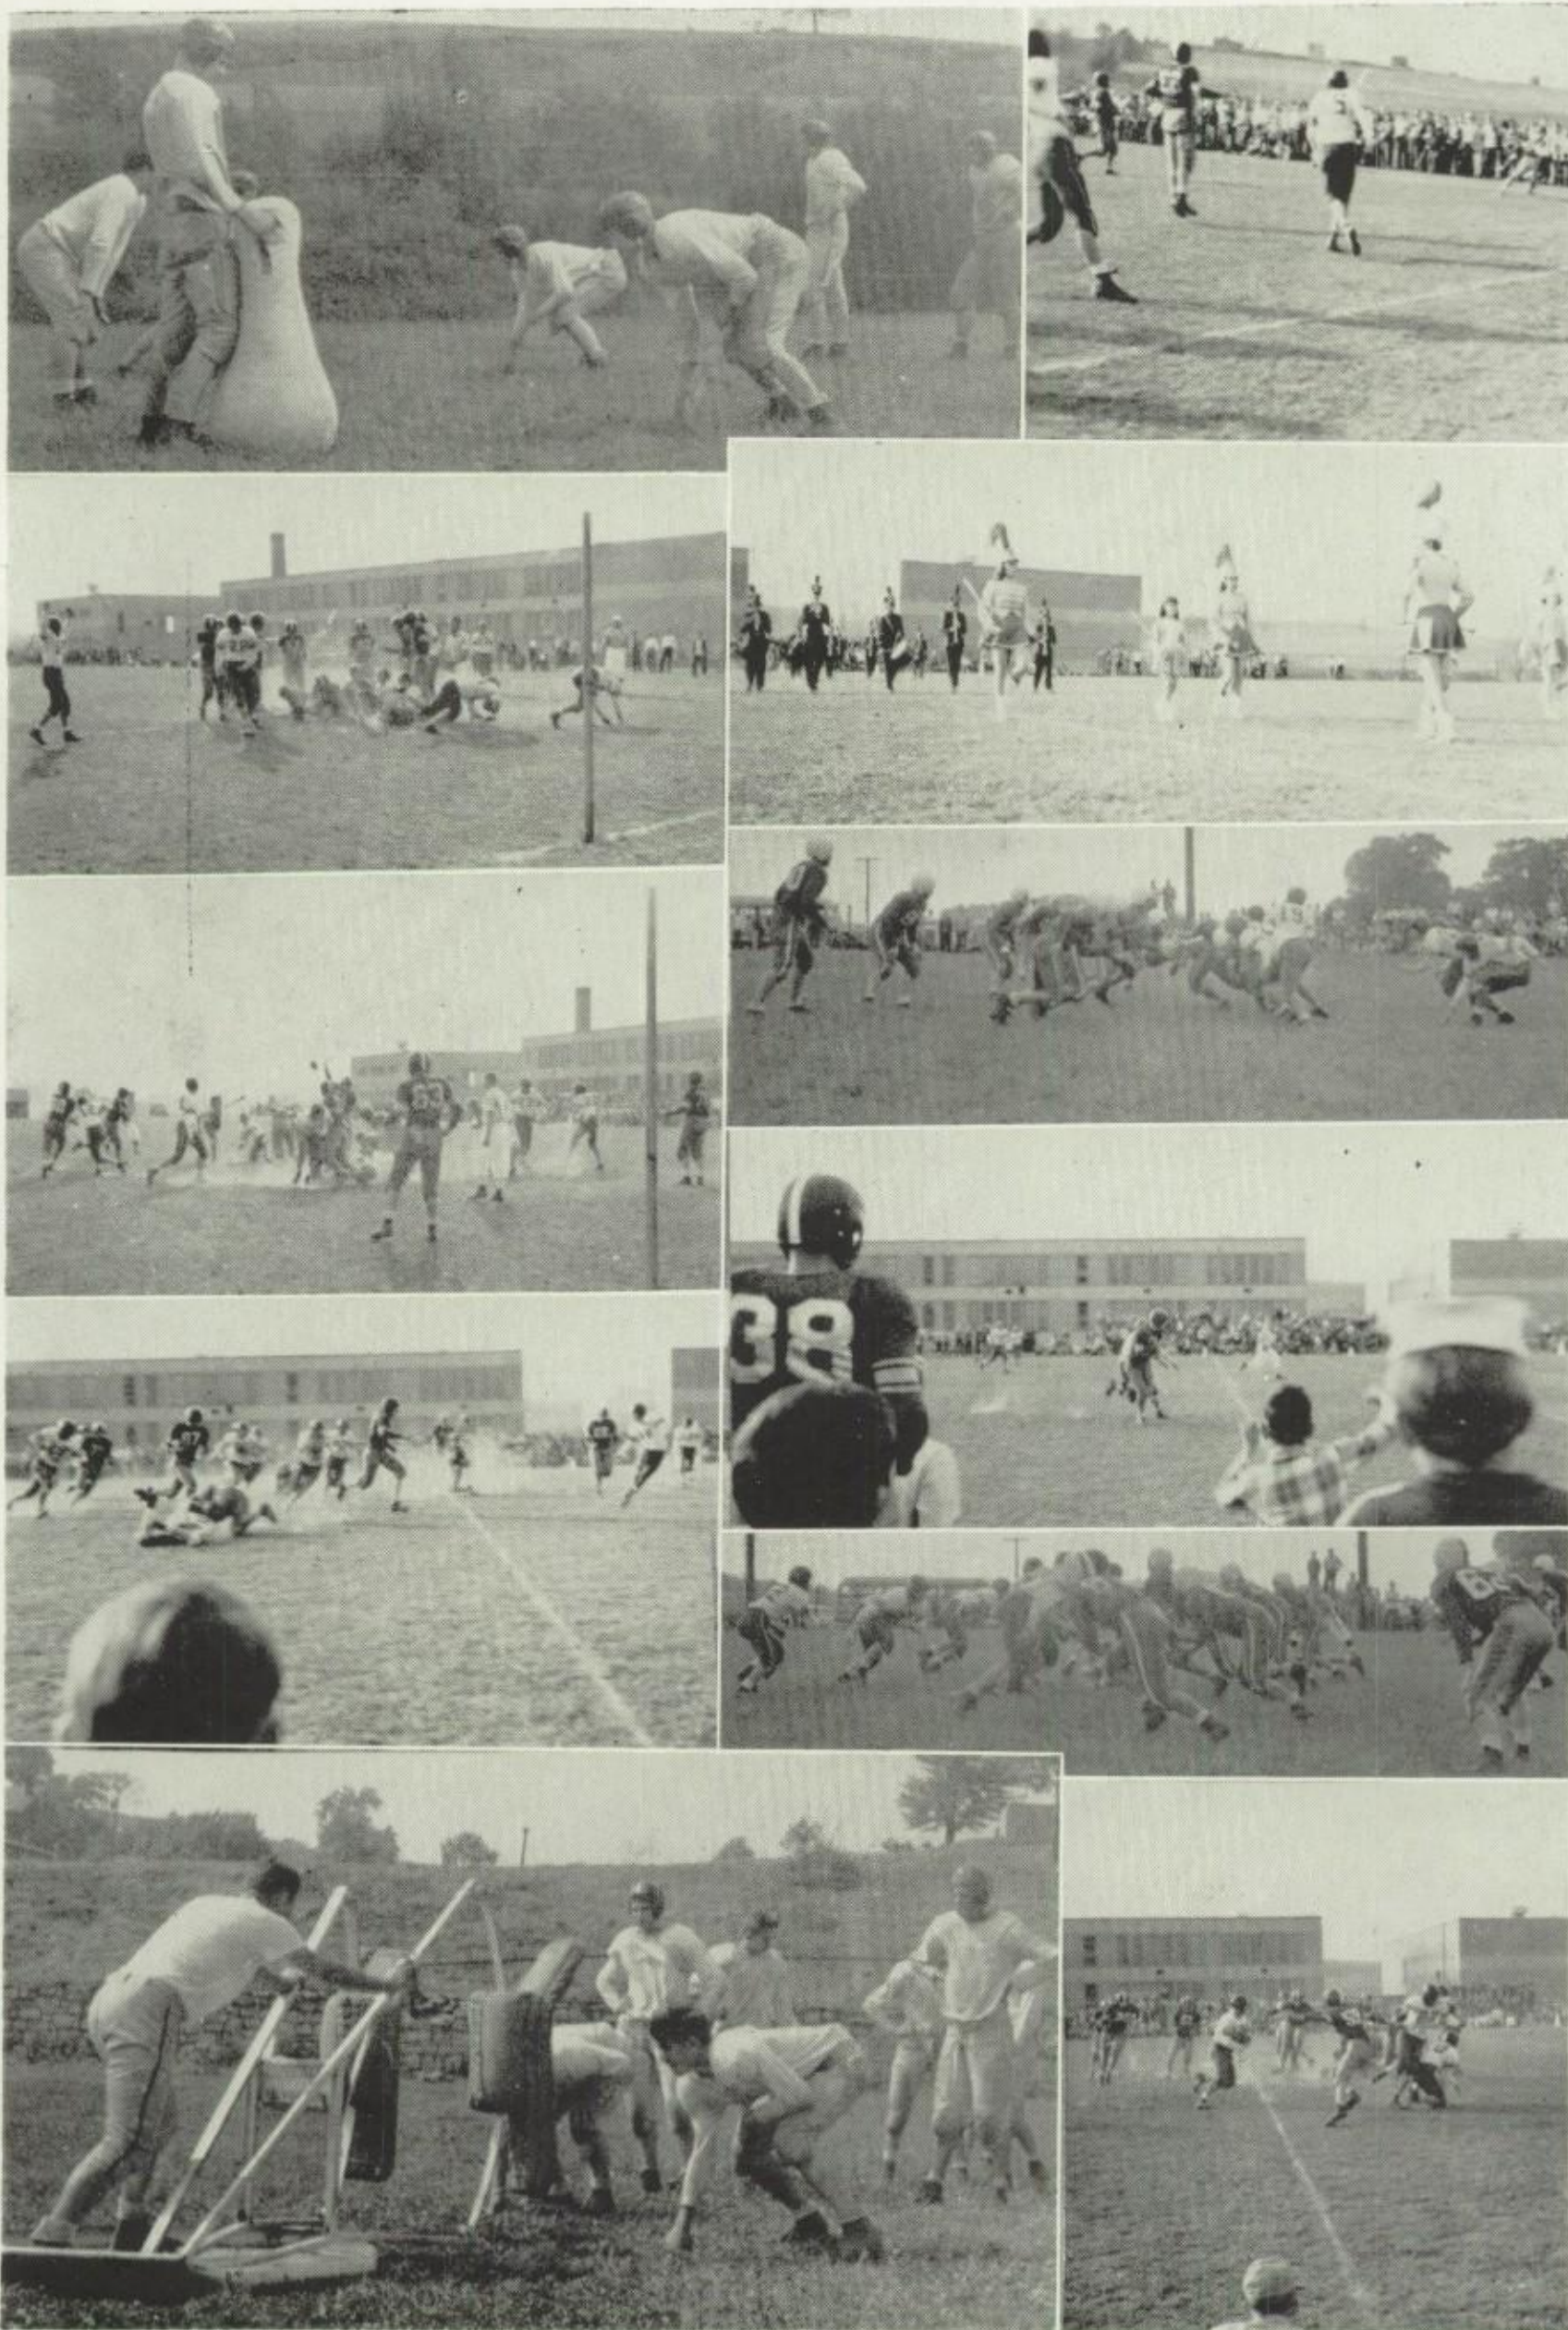

The president, Bill Kaczmarek, vice president, Louis Rose, secretary, Ronnie Ridenour, treasurer, Wendell Kooser, and all the other members with the aid of Mr. Puskar and Mr. Crawford have piloted the "52" club through a very successful year.

Summary of the Season

This year's basketball team, after a slow start, really began to roll as the season progressed. Although believed to be a weak sister in Section XVII' at the beginning of the season, the players displayed much skill and determination to upset many of the section's supposedly stronger teams. As a result of their determined efforts, the team, under the capable guidance of Mr. Puskar, finished higher in the league than any other Bulldog team has finished for the past fourteen years.

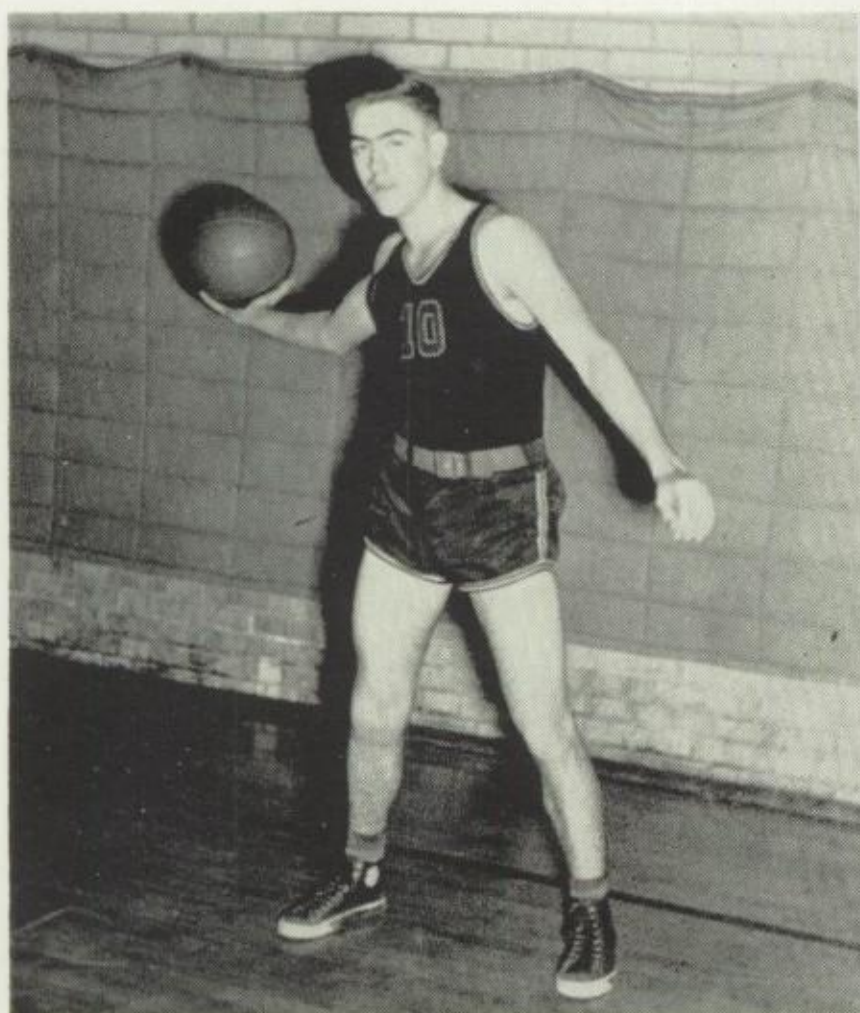

High Divers . . .

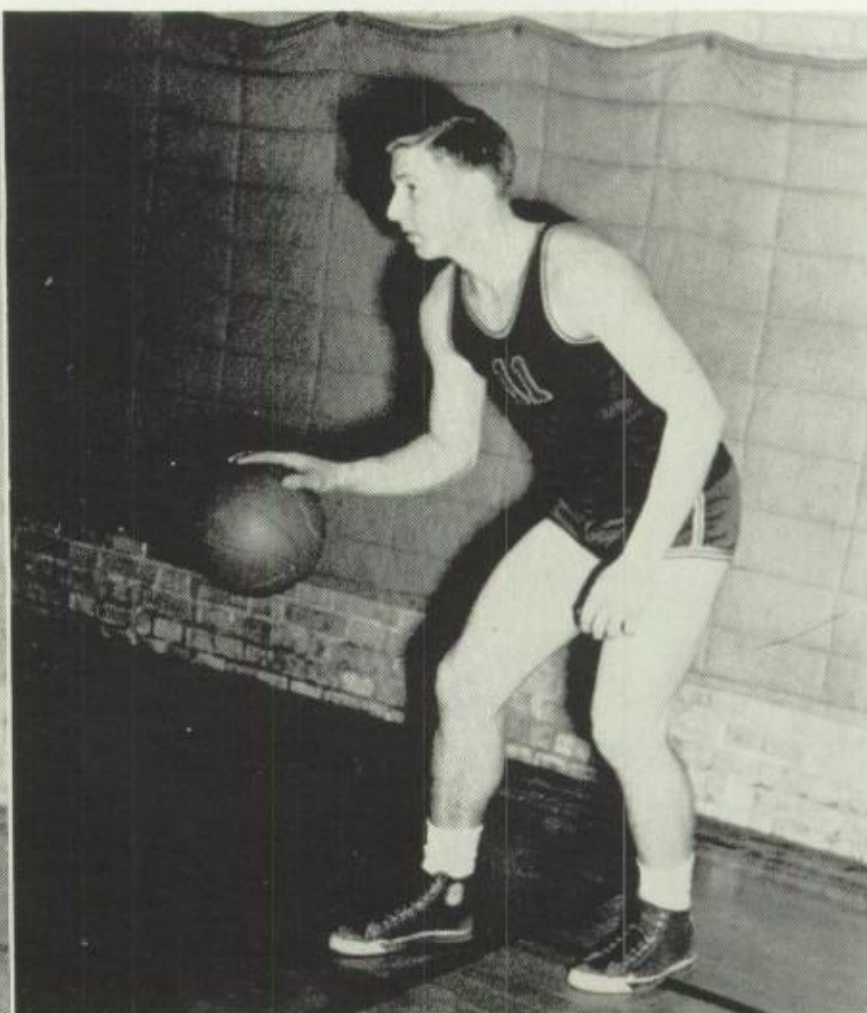

Paul Summy—Center . . . Fourth year on varsity . . . outstanding all around player . . . high scorer on this year's team.

CLASS PROPHECY

As Madam Zu Zu sits by her tent waiting for a customer, she glances around the circus grounds and sees coming toward her a richly-dressed old maid whom she recognizes as Arlene Barber. She asks Madam Zu Zu to tell her fortune. They enter the tent and Madam Zu Zu prepares to foretell the future.

Gazing into the crystal ball, Madam sees that Arlene is going to take a vacation to some distant land. While preparing for and going on this trip, she will see some of her classmates. Now Madam's crystal ball is hazy. Finally, she sees Arlene enter a bank. She approaches the teller, Bill Hodgkiss, who prepares her Traveler's Checks. Leaving the bank, she catches the bus to Pittsburgh. Along the highway she sees the farms of Arthur Bowser, Bill Warburton, and Gwen Hart. She also sees Glen Colbert's Veterinary Hospital. After passing it, she encounters some misfortune. There is a wreck. The ambulance and police arrive at the scene. The nurse is Martha Conn and the lady policewoman is Romaine Stout. The wrecking truck is from the Miller, Ganter, and Broush Garage.

Arlene arrives in Pittsburgh and travels to the airport. Going to the information desk, the pretty clerk, Shirley Wesche, tells her that the plane is due. The arrival is announced by Catherine Hobson. Boarding the plane, she sees a very neat girl with short blond hair, who is the stewardess, Shirley Love. The pilot, Wendell Kooser, is a tall, brown-haired, good-looking man. Sitting across the aisle from her is a nice looking couple. They both have dark hair. Yes, it is Alvin Stoker and his wife, Dolores Fisher. They begin to chat with Arlene and tell her that Maurice Lowe and Nick Ritz have invented a new airplane, that Shirley Suter is a model, and that Donna Stoner has published a new book.

The plane lands and Arlene hails a taxi. The driver, Fred Terhorst, continues to tell her of her former classmates. Keith Solomon is a professor, Bob Kozer and Martha Slaminko are married, Wayne Etling is playing college basketball, and Bill Kaczmarek, the boy with those broad shoulders and muscles, is playing professional football. As they drive past a building, Arlene sees a sign, "John Heffling's Chewing Gum Factory."

Now Madam Zu Zu sees Arlene getting out of the taxi at a very swanky resort. The owners are Jack Lineberry and Joe Schmuck. After checking in, she goes to see the floor show in the "Shrimp Room." The main act today is that stupendous comedian, Mary Ellen Mellon. The next morninnng, she sleeps late, finally awakening at noon. She goes for a morning swim in the beautiful swimming pool which is surrounded by a group of pretty girls—Daryl Troup, Beatrice Oakes, and Jane Shipley—who are posing for two photographers, Jim Weisel and Tom Baird. After posing for a few pictures, the Madam sees that Arlene is beginning to talk with the girls. They tell her that Ellen Jean Hodge, Gladys Walsh, and Mary Ann Potoka are married, that Betty Gonda has a dress shop and Irene Petro is a dress designer. She strolls around the sands and there is a girl, Mary Elizabeth Kurimcak, with a paint brush painting the portrait of a lifeguard. Mary Elizabeth tells Arlene that Mary Catherine Fada and Marian Beranek are still searching for the Fountain of Youth, and that Carl Reese is working in a tobacco factory. She leaves Mary who goes back to her work.

Now Madam Zu Zu looks into her ball and sees a quaint street. Arlene enters a seafood restaurant owned by Shirley Snyder and Gaynell Keslar. The waitress is Alice McBeth. A dark, curly-haired man enters the picture and greets her. Yes, it's Dale Eicher who is now the principal of E. H. H. S. Dale tells Arlene of the changes at her Alma Mater: Vivian Livingston is supervising principal, Grace Snyder is the physical education teacher, and Evelyn Edge is a home economics teacher. Dale also says that Janet Anderson is married, Neal Bigham is a minister, and Arnold Davis owns an orange grove in California. She returns to her hotel and prepares to leave, for the following morning she is to board a ship.

Morning arrives. As Arlene goes aboard the ship she recognizes the Skipper for it's Bob Shultz. On the deck she meets two old friends: Barbara Zimmerman and Maryanne Latsko. Barbara says she is going to Brazil to do missionary work and Maryanne is going to Venezuela to continue her job as a social service worker. Now the picture seems to be growing white. Oh, it is just two nurses, Josephine Guzy and Roberta Kellaway. They say their friend Dolores Peterson is married and Peg Shannon is a telephone operator.

As the days pass, Arlene's ship nears the refueling port in Haiti. Madam sees that she is leaving the ship. She seems to know where she is going. The attraction is two men, one, a blond with a deep voice, the other has dark hair. She cannot see their faces because they are surrounded by beautiful girls dressed in native costumes. These girls are: Geraldine Johnson, Katherine Hodgkiss, and Frances Gach. Getting nearer she sees that the men are George Hatfield and Tom Wolfe. She hates to call them, but she must, because it is time for the ship to leave.

The ship leaves the port and continues on. The days go quickly. It is now docking in Venezuela. As Arlene walks into a large hotel, she hears a Rhumba Band. The trumpet player is Harry Bills, the clarinet player is Anna Marie Hresko, and the drummer is Dick Gratzinger. The little rhumba dancer is Patty Cunnard. Another girl is there who looks like Abbey Lane, but it is Patty Bosanick who sings with the band. When Arlene talks to her she finds out that Mary Catherine Conty is the publicity agen for them, and that Sondra Whigham is working in the research laboratories of a large oil company under the direction of John Hodgkiss. She sees a tall, red-headed man dancing with a beautiful red-head. It is none other than Don Pritchard who is down here working as an electrical engineer.

Leaving the hotel, Arlene goes for a walk in the beautiful romantic moonlight. She listens and hears singing. Frank Konieczny is singing under his senorita's window. Arlene doesn't want to interrupt anything so wonderful so she goes back to the hotel.

And now Madam Zu Zu's crystal ball grows cloudy. That's all of Arlene's fortune that she can tell.

Farewell to the "Big Top" . . .

EPILOGUE

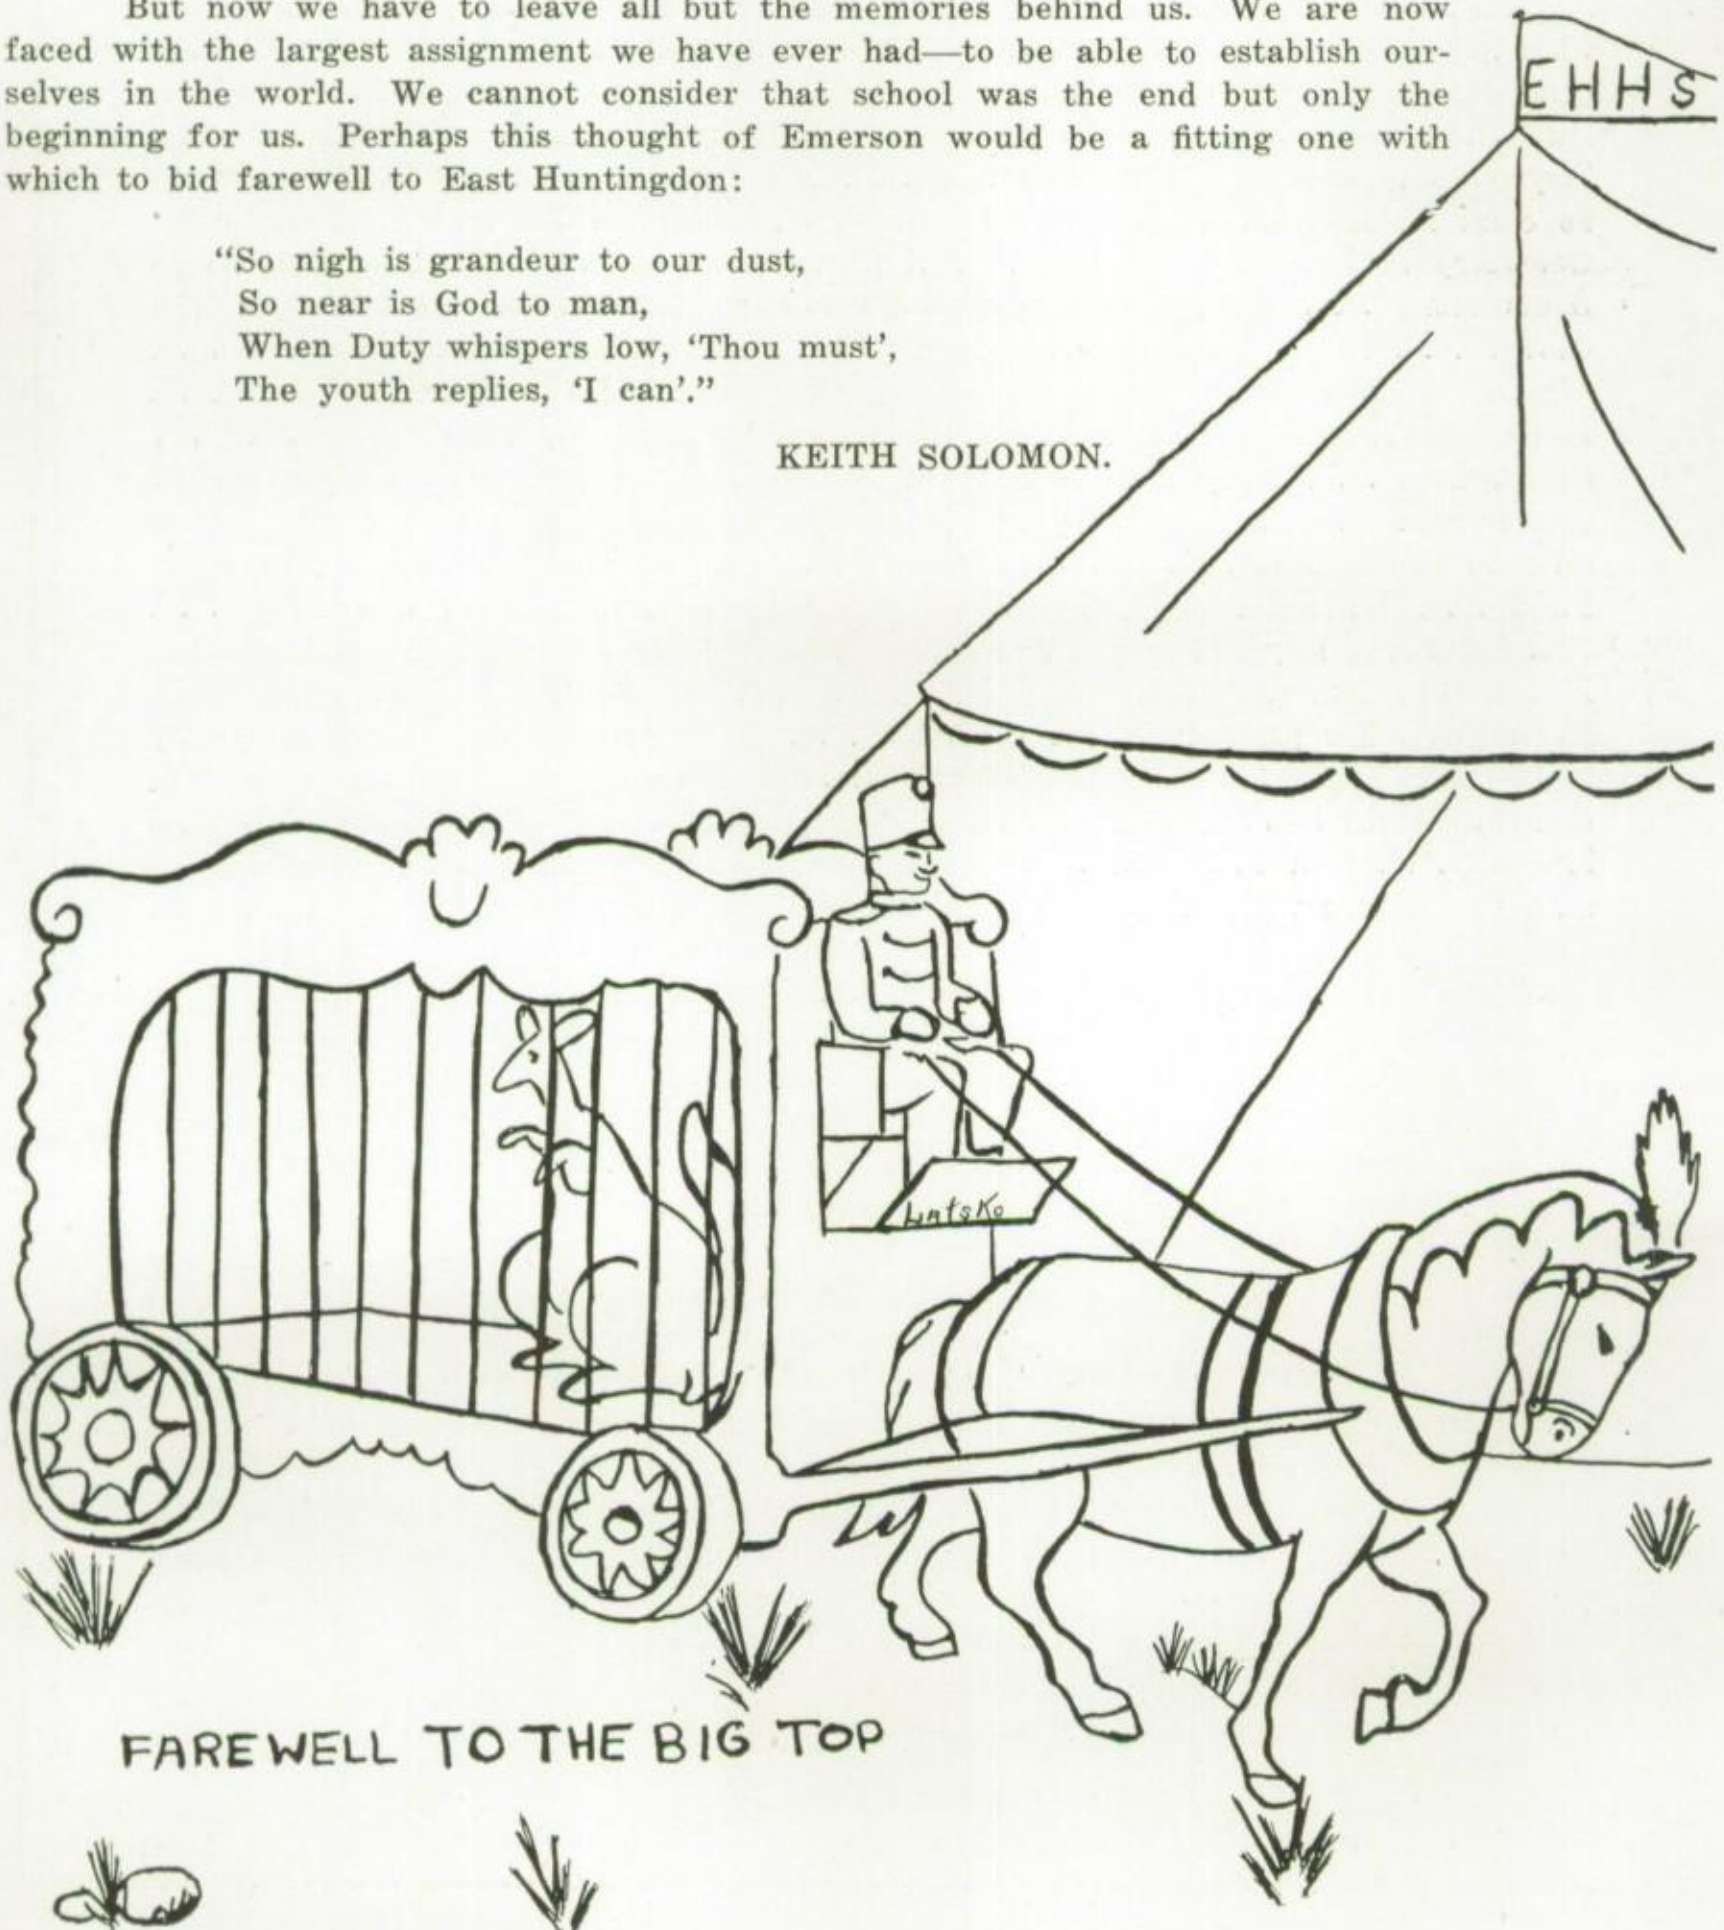

You have just finished reading about our last year under the "big top." We will soon be leaving although it doesn't seem possible.

Here we have spent the best, most exciting days of our lives. The fun we have had in promoting our school activities can never be forgotten. Those exciting, tense moments of the football and basketball games will always be remembered. And the home work we dreaded—but it wasn't so bad after all. Remember the dances? They all led up to the grand finale—the senior prom.

But now we have to leave all but the memories behind us. We are now faced with the largest assignment we have ever had—to be able to establish ourselves in the world. We cannot consider that school was the end but only the beginning for us. Perhaps this thought of Emerson would be a fitting one with which to bid farewell to East Huntingdon:

"So nigh is grandeur to our dust,
So near is God to man,
When Duty whispers low, 'Thou must',
The youth replies, 'I can'."
